

Plowing the Field:

Prayer Walk Breaks Down Strongholds

In April, our church was blessed with Prayer Walk Training presented by Stan and Juli Jasinski. This powerful program by the National Harvest Prayer Evangelism, a ministry of UPCI's World Network of Prayer, was developed through written contributions from: Sister Flo Shaw, Sister Juli Jasinski, Brother Phillip Hofstetter, Sister Lisa Marshall, and Sister Thetus Tenney. What makes this instruction unique is that it not only teaches principles of prayer, but it puts these teachings into action by the local church with anointed prayer.

The initial training began on a Friday night with the focus on why prayer walking is so important for revival, the steps to take to prepare prior to conducting a prayer walk, and how to pray strongholds down in a community. The Jasinskis provided exciting examples of the results of several of their prior prayer walks, which have taken them across the United States and around the world. At the conclusion, the church gathered in the altar to anoint themselves with oil and to pray to break down the strongholds in their individual lives. Those gathered then broke into groups to anoint with oil and pray for all parts of the church and for the pastor and all those who minister. It was powerful to see and hear members praying throughout the sanctuary pews and beyond to other parts of our property, including our visitors' parking.

On Saturday morning, members met again for additional training, including: the "Armor of God," "Weapons of our Warfare", and "How to do Spiritual Warfare Praying". The attendees were then broken up into groups and assigned various areas in our city to go to and pray and anoint. The goal was to strategically target these strongholds to break their influence as if plowing a field to ready it for harvest. Look out, Modesto, Revival Center, is prayerfully armed and ready for spiritual battle!
